SYNOPSIS

« You Can't Write a Letter »

Julien and Nina sign a pact with the universe: they must enjoy life, whatever the cost. Will that decision lead them to happiness, or to their disappearance?

Julien et Nina établissent un pacte avec l'univers : il doivent profiter de la vie, quel qu'en soit le prix. Cette décision les mènera-t-elle au bonheur, ou au contraire à leur disparition ?

THE PROJECT

« You can't write a letter » / France / 2013
VISA 135 866 / HD Red / 1,77 / 85 min / Color / 2.0

« You can't write a letter » is a lovely declaration about the repercussions of fusional love, sent out with poetry and imagination.

Facing a gigantic amount of difficulties in making such a movie, the project progressed solely thanks to an unconditional love for words and filming.

The main character, Julien, is a rather untalented and profoundly misunderstood film director, whom we follow between Paris and the south of France. When in Paris, Julien tries to live a life as full and intense as possible; but when he decides to go south, his own reality and the mediocre movie he could have made get confused.

As for today, « You can't write a letter » is a strong though fragile film; like a newborn angel waiting to fly towards the screens.

THE DIRECTOR

Guillaume Levil has directed a few short films which were shown all over France and abroad. "La vieille dame qui ne souriait plus", a 12-minute movie, was thus selected for more than 60 festivals and got 17 international awards.

Born in Provence, Guillaume Levil likes shooting in the south to catch the light that inspires him from lands of many tales and legends. As a true lover of Capra's and Pagnol's work, he gives away images as story-teller, not to escape reality but to celebrate it differently.
