Synopsis

Jean is a fireman whose girl friend Albertine died of a horse accident shortly after having left him. He suffers a great pain because he had serious hopes of her coming back home. It's a double punishment which he attempts to confess to his fellow firemen between two rescue urgencies. His grief and his doubts invade gently the fire station.

Bio

Véronique Aubouy directed first short films among which The Silence of summer, selected in Cannes Festival 1993, Un certain regard. Her first movie picture Je suis Annemarie Schwarzenbach was presented in Berlin Panorama 2015.

Since october 1993, she films people from all origins, in all possible locations and in time, reading each two pages of In search of past time, from the first pages of the book to its end.
