« ... The story is short, simple. There are no special effects. The artists are, for me, totally unknown. And the outcome is amazing. The whole audience was sniffing... May this film live, be seen and prove to the whole world that love exists !... »

Danielle Paquet-François

● JFF Miami (USA)

« We're big fans of AMOR and feel great pride and honor presenting it at our Festival. Wishing you much success and all the very best ! »

Igor Shteyrenberg
Director Miami Jewish Film Festival

« This beautiful film is moving, important, and will make you look at institutions in your community in a life-changing way. »

Andrew Werner, Miami Jewish Film Festival
Executive Infectious Disease Specialist at Johnson & Johnson (USA)

● IAC Cinematec New Jersey (USA)

« This is a story of love, freedom, belief, and ethics. The conflict inside the lover, the conflict inside the religious father. How much freedom is given to someone to do what he/she wishes ? How much do you love someone to fulfill his/her desires ? »

Rebibo is not afraid to confront fateful issues in his touching and thought provoking film. »

Ilanit Solomonovich-Habot
Yediot America

● Boca Raton (USA)

« We just screened this wonderful film in Boca Raton, FL. It is a very moving and powerful film, beautifully written, filmed and acted... » about very real life issues that many of us will face as individuals and that we all must face as a society.

Thank you, Raphael Rebibo, for bringing us this beautiful film. »
