Death, like some women, rejects those who love it too much

SYNOPSIS
Mat is a night cop in the criminal division of the Paris' police force.

His lifelong friend Franck works on the drug squad and has been dabbling in trafficking for some time. When Franck takes things a bit too far, Mat must take matters into his own hands.
"If I do make another film, it will be this one!"

That thought has been tumbling around my head for quite some time. Ever since I discovered the novel by Hugues Pagan, entered Pagan’s world, worked with him on the first screen adaptation... Of course, life, the movie industry and other surprises have often separated us, distanced us, stopped us... But each time, it has come back stronger, clearer, obsessive like a tune you just can’t get out of your head... I know every detail, each description, every line... It’s part of me. And I’ve come to know each aspect of it inside and out...

The Genre: a timeless, shadow-filled detective story... (in the tradition of Birds of Prey; Le Samouraï; Heat; The Pledge; The Killer; In the Heat of the Night; 36; and why not: Barbarous Street...). And there are so many other magnificent, eternal films in the same genre...

The Themes: a modern tragedy, a social fable combining destiny, desperate love, friendship betrayed, corruption of the elite and inexorable, unavoidable violence... In the end, redemption can be achieved only by making the ultimate sacrifice...
The Characters: lost, weak and ambiguous, forced to confront themselves, searching for an answer that just won’t come... The Hero: also very solitary, disillusioned, someone who resembles them, who believes he’s given up on everything, surmounted everything, or almost... who draws his strength from rage, anger and rebellion to preserve at least some part of his integrity... How many times can you betray your principles without betraying yourself?

The Locations: a city, a harbour, the sea, a road, a bar...

The Ambiance: the night, the rain, the wind, or the sun and its oppressive heat...

The Colours: blues, blacks - steel greys and a blinding sidereal white...
The Music: electric, deep, soulful blues, passionate percussion....

The Moral of the story: also troubling, as ambiguous as the society we live in and the fiction that allows us to confront it head on...

I met Olivier (Marchal), the actor and screenwriter, who immediately embraced the project, even asking me to rework the screenplay.
